

Doctors of Education™ was created to provide educational and cognitive support to individuals of all ages, from preschool children to senior citizens.

We also specialize in providing support to parents, teachers, schools/school districts, corporations, as well as those in the workplace who need experts to help them negotiate some of the challenges that we all face when wanting achieve positive result in our lives. We want those who seek us out, to rest assured that we will work diligently putting the puzzle pieces together for success™. Our team brings with them years of professional experience, as well as expertise acquired through specific disciplines of research and study. Our goal is to support our clients to achieve positive and life enhancing outcomes in school, at home, and in the workplace. We are experts with heart, working to make a lasting difference in individual lives, families, schools, workplaces, and our communities.

Check out our current specialty class offering on Memory Training!

DOCTORSOFEDUCATION.COM/REGISTER

Dr. Lynne Goldfarb, Ph.D.

(760) 889-0395

lynne@doctorsofeducation.com

doctorsofeducation.com

Putting the puzzle pieces together for success™

Educational Therapy

Professional Development/Trainings

Educational Programs

Educational Consulting

Parenting Support

Senior Care Consulting

Public-Key Note Speaking

doctorsofeducation.com

CHIEF EXECUTIVE EDUCATOR
Dr. Lynne Goldfarb, Ph.D.

© 2019 Doctors of Education™ All Rights Reserved.

What is an Educational Therapist?

An educational therapist is a highly-trained individual who works with struggling learners in a one-on-one or group therapy setting. Educational therapists are specifically equipped with the ability to identify and assess student learning needs. They create and implement individual educational therapy plans utilizing the necessary techniques specific to the learning goals for each student. Therapists are passionate, skilled, relational, and empathetic. They are individuals who want to be a part of unlocking learning potential for their students through an individualized, therapeutic approach. Lastly, an Educational Therapist is a highly trained and credentialed educator who has learned specialized techniques designed to remediate learning disabilities, improve processing, and teach compensatory skills.

What Do Educational Therapists Do?

EDUCATIONAL THERAPISTS:

- Work with individuals teaching them how to improve their learning skills.
- Help individuals build their independence as learners.
- Create a caring and trusting rapport with a client's family as well as with the client.
- Help individuals to build self-confidence.
- Empower individuals and build self-esteem.
- Work with both formal and informal assessments creating intervention plans based on both an individual's strengths and greatest areas of need.
- Work with individual clients in a professional/private therapeutic environment.
- Serve as case managers working with other allied professionals, including the classroom teacher to coordinate the needs and progress of an individual client.
- Help individuals to attain the necessary tools for success to learn across all subject areas.
- Help students to learn how to learn.

We Can Help. |

We will provide both in person and online services to help you meet your individual needs and to succeed in your unique goals. We offer the opportunity to work with educational experts who utilize current research, brain-based practices, and an integrative team-approach to address the following areas:

LEARNING

We address a variety of learning challenges, diagnosed and undiagnosed.

EDUCATIONAL ACHIEVEMENT

We provide supportive and empowering techniques for all-around cognitive and behavioral improvement.

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT/TRAINING

We design school specific Professional Development and Training programs for teachers and administrators to meet the pedagogical needs of teachers to effectively work with all students. In addition, teachers and administrators will learn effective techniques to identify struggling learners as early as possible to support these students for overall success.

EDUCATIONAL PROGRAMS -ONLINE/ON GROUND

We are creating educational programs to support parents who need more information regarding their child's learning challenges. In addition, we are developing online programs for teachers to identify their struggling students and teaching methodologies and strategies to support these and all students for success (will soon be able to receive CEU's - Continuing Education Units)

SENIOR CARE CONSULTING

Have a loved one who has changing cognition and ability to care for him/herself. We offer support for resources, evaluation, and plans to help support your loved ones as they age and need more care.

PARENTING SPECIAL NEEDS CHILDREN/ADOLESCENTS

We provide supportive and empowering techniques for all-around cognitive and behavioral improvement.

PARENTING CHILDREN/ADOLESCENTS FOR ACADEMIC/PERSONAL SUCCESS

We provide supportive and empowering techniques to help gain the achievements desired.

CASE MANAGEMENT

For families with special needs children/ adolescents facing complex diagnoses. We work with the family, allied professionals, and the classroom teacher(s) to coordinate support in and out of the classroom for the child/ adolescent/ student in need of cognitive and learning support.

SUPPORTING ADULTS WITH ADHD/ADD

Ninety percent of adults with ADHD/ADD go untreated.¹ We aid those with ADHD/ADD to reach their personal, academic, and professional goals.

PUBLIC-KEY NOTE SPEAKING

Do you need a dynamic, compassionate, educational expert to speak at your next event? Please contact us for further details.

ACADEMIC TUTORING

Available upon request in all subject areas.

¹ (Barkley, R. (2012) ADHD Essentials Ideas for Parents, <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=SCAGC-rkifo>)

